

THREE COUNTIES OPEN ART EXHIBITION 2015

FREE

ALL WELCOME

You are warmly invited to attend the preview of this years Three Counties Open Art Exhibition on Tuesday 17 November 2015, 6pm-8pm.

Keele University's long standing Three Counties Open Art exhibition has gained a reputation for being one of the outstanding opportunities for artists from Staffordshire, Cheshire and Shropshire to show their work. Prizes for the competition include The Arthur Berry Prize, worth £1,000; the Barracks Trust Prize worth £250, and Keele University Prizes of £300, £150 and £50. The Exhibition will run from November 18 to December 16.

This year over 500 pieces of artwork were received from just under 200 artists located in Staffordshire, Cheshire and Shropshire. 110 pieces have been selected for the show with most for sale throughout the duration.

The exhibition is being opened by Gaye Blake Roberts, director of the Wedgwood Museum It will then run until Wednesday 16 December.

For more information about Keele University arts programme visit www.keele.ac.uk/artskeele.